Member of SCCT Board of Directors Receives 2009 RSNA Outstanding Educator Award

WASHINGTON, DC (November 29, 2009) – Society of Cardiovascular Computed Tomography (SCCT) is pleased to announce that SCCT Board of Director's Member, Elliot K. Fishman, M.D, was awarded the RSNA 2009 Outstanding Educator award.

The RSNA Outstanding Educator Award annually recognizes and honors one senior individual who has made a significant contribution to the field of radiology or radiologic sciences throughout a career of teaching and education. Dr. Fishman, a professor of radiology and oncology at The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and director of Diagnostic Imaging and Body CT at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, was recognized for his innovative and inspirational teaching style.

Dr. Fishman joined the SCCT Board of Directors in July 2009.

About the Society of Cardiovascular Computed Tomography

(SCCT) is the recognized representative and advocate for physicians, scientists, and technologists who work in the field of cardiovascular computed tomography. With a membership of over 4,000, it is nationally and internationally viewed as the principal independent organization committed to the further development of cardiovascular computed tomography through education, training, accreditation, quality control, and research.
